AXON OUTPOST & LIGHTPOST

Fixed ALPR That Sees More Than Just Plates

Motor vehicles are tied to over 75% of crimes—but identifying the right one isn't always straightforward. That's why Axon is introducing its first fixed ALPR cameras—designed not just to read plates, but to deliver live video, vehicle attribute recognition, and seamless integration with your real-time operations.

Axon Outpost is a compact, Axon-built fixed camera that combines ALPR, live streaming, and vehicle signature detection in one unit. It offers flexible power options and can be deployed anywhere—giving your team real-time eyes on the scene, not just a hit.

Axon Lightpost, developed in partnership with Ubicquia, brings those same capabilities to existing streetlight infrastructure—deployable in under an hour with no new pole or trenching required.

Outpost and Lightpost join Fleet 3 as part of Axon's fully integrated vehicle intelligence solution, all visible through Axon Fusus. Teams can livestream, search, receive alerts, and investigate—all from a single platform. Certified third-party cameras also guarantee seamless, self-service integration into Axon Fusus through the Works With Axon program.

New vehicle search capabilities in Axon Fusus include:

- Unified search by plate, partials, make, model, color, or unique attributes
- Visualize vehicle movement history to support interception or investigation
- Near-instant alerts from any connected ALPR camera—fixed, mobile, or partner
- Cross-agency sharing when and where you choose

Pre-orders for Axon Outpost and Lightpost are now open, with introductory pricing through year-end and flexible payment options.

If your agency is expanding ALPR or looking to unify visibility across systems, this is the time to act. Contact Sales now to explore what deployment could look like in your jurisdiction.
